Good Fortune of a Confederate General.

General S. B. Buckner lived in a State which never seceded, and a majority of its people were opposed to the movement. All his own and his wife's property must be left to the tender mercies of the enemy in case he should join the Confederates. It was a magnificent property, the large income of which enabled the General to live in a style suited to his refined and elegant tastes. And yet all this he risked when, impelled by his sympathies and convictions, he abandoned his beautiful home, joined the Confederate and fought through the war with distinguished gallantry and unflinching fidelity. At the close of the war General Buckner found himself stripped of everything. Locating in this city, he set to work first as a journalist, on the Crescent, and afterwards engaged in the business of life insurance, where he achieved a brilliant success. He then took measures to recover his property in Kentucky and his wife's property in Chicago. There were serious obstacles to the success of these efforts. Large suits had been brought against him for damages inflicted by the Confederate forces under his command. On these suits his property had been attached and much of it sold. It was a severe, tedious and expensive litigation, in which he became involved, but his efforts were finally crowned with victory. His property was restored to him, and the claims for damages against him were all defeated.

Next he instituted proceedings to recover his wife's property. And here was developed an intensely interesting romance. Mrs. Buckner had, before joining her husband in the Confederacy, conveyed her property to her brother, under a deed of trust. The obligation rested upon his honor to preserve and convey the property to her after the war. In the progress of the war this brother married and accepted a commission in the Federal service. Further to complicate affairs, he became a father. In case he should prove faithless to his obligation to his sister, this child would inherit a large fortune. Here was a great temptation to the young man whose natural affections for his sister were antagonized by his ardent hostility to the cause with which she was identified, and to his paternal instincts and affections. It was for him alone to determine whether this large property should accrue to the wife of a rebel, in preference to his own offspring. Honor and brotherly affection, it is true, demanded a certain course; but how rarely in these selfish and materialistic times, do these principles control the acts of men!

This young man, however, recognized their obligation, and on the eve of battle he made his way reconveying to his sister the property which she had confided to him. After making one of these visits, he went forth with the integrity of a man conscious of an act of high self-control, to encounter the enemy, and met the fate of a brave soldier at the battle of Sharpsburg. The General of his corps knew of what he kept the secret, and after the war, communicated to his old comrade in arms, his recent fate, but now his friend and brother, the fact, and gave every aid to recover the instrument. This was Gen. Burnside.

By his generous assistance, and through the unflinching devotion and energies of one of General Buckner's staff, the gallant and gifted Colonel Wooley, of Lexington, Kentucky, the testamentary proofs were procured and the title of Mrs. Buckner to her patrimony was fully established, and after a legal contest she was repossessed with the same, and now is in full, undisturbed enjoyment of a magnificent estate—and no couple ever more justly merited this happy fortune, this victory over the most formidable difficulties and perils which could arise in the path of duty and honor, but which never for a moment dismayed or swerved them from the line which patriotism and conscience had marked out for them.—New Orleans Herald.

SEVENTEEN TRUNKS.—The Misses Hunter, of Morristown, having spent an agreeable summer vacation from their home, lately arrived in New York, previous to their starting for Morristown, and purchasing at the Morris and Essex depot the necessary tickets, presented the same to the baggage master, respectfully requesting him to have their trunks, seventeen in number, checked. The shrewd dignitary gave a long, shrill whistle and informed them that the express office was the proper place to which to apply if they wished to take their trunks with them, as each passenger was allowed but one hundred pounds of baggage. Inquiring at the latter place revealed the fact that the exorbitant tariff of $1.25 was demanded for each trunk. Upon the ladies remonstrating the expressman gallantly relented and agreed to send the contraband goods for one dollar each. But the ladies, remembering that a passenger (and a trunk if he choose) is carried over the road for eighty cents, murmured even to this magnanimity, and without further ado quickly walked to the ticket office and bought fifteen tickets. These they exhibited and the baggage official gave the ladies the checks which they sought. The result of this financial maneuver is that the Misses Hunter have fifteen trunks, only two being demanded of them by the conductor, as they are good until used, according to a stipulation, the company may be compelled to transport fifteen passengers, with as many trunks, if necessary, from New York to Morristown.—*N. FANCY GOODS AND NOTIONS.

NEW FALL GOODS
GREEN'S NOTION HOUSE,
Alexandria, Virginia.

Advance orders for large quantities of Foreign and Domestic

NOTIONS
are now being received, and which have been purchased in package quantities for WHOLESALE TRADE.

GREEN'S NOTION HOUSE
RETAIL DEPARTMENT
This Department affords great advantages to retail purchasers.

A moderate profit upon package prices has been, and is shall continue to be my motive power.

Placing large orders insures great advantages to buyers. These facts are known to every merchant.

My constantly increasing trade in every Department of my business will warrant a closer profit than goods have ever been sold at before, and with a stock of goods in this line of

Ladies' & Gents' Furn'g. Goods,
Hosiery, Gloves, Underwear, Zephyr Worsteds, Embroidery Materials, Belts, Laces, Scarfs, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Jewelry, Real Hair Goods, &c., &c., which will be larger than the combined stocks of the city. I can, without doubt say to all that it will be to their interests at least to look through this and make a note of the quantity, quality and price. Goods retailed as heretofore at a fraction only above wholesale figures. This can be readily done, as the extra discounts of manufacturers and importers are in many instances quite large. My stock is now full and complete in all departments, and the wants of every one can be supplied.

Fortunately for myself and customers, chronic croakers have no influence in these quarters, and I shall continue to oppose any combination to maintain extortionary prices. Thanking my customers and friends both in and out of the city for their liberal patronage, confidence and influence during the past seven years, I hereby further assure them that in the future as in the past I shall exert myself to maintain a stock of goods that will do credit to Alexandria and continue to attract trade from all the surrounding country.

During the approaching season other Departments will be added to stock, each of which will be complete in every particular. Goods wholesaled at prices as low as any jobbing house in New York.

Potomac Pearl Hominy Mills
GEORGE R. HILL & CO.,
ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA.

With a view to the full trade, we respectfully announce that those Mills are now commencing, and that we will take pleasure in showing samples of all our goods (now manufacturing) to dealers or others interested. We manufacture PEARL HOMINY, GRITS and SAMPS.

PEARL FLOUR and MEAL.
The old from these various articles combined makes a very valuable article of food for horses and cows, to which the attention of those interested is invited.
We claim superiority for the Hominy made upon our Patent Mills for the following reasons: First, it is made from dry corn without having to go through the soaking process necessary in the old way of making hominy, for the purpose of removing the husks, which causes it to begin to spoil from the moment it is thus made. Whereas our process puts it in a drier condition than corn ever is naturally.
Secondly, The same bulk of our Hominy will produce fifty per cent more of the cooked article than by the wet process, as ours swells while cooking, while the other swells while soaking, before being cooked.
Thirdly, It takes half the time to cook.
Fourthly, It can be shipped with safety from point to any climate, making a cheap substitute for rice and beans.
The above also applies to our Pearl Corn Grits. The best proof of the superiority of Hominy and Grits made upon our Patent Mills is that they have been adopted by the Army and Navy of the United States, and approved by all who have used them.
